DISCOVERING UNDERVISED OF CONTROL OF CONTROL

Fort McMurray Public Schools

This survey captures insights into the demographics, diversity, and unique characteristics of our student community.

Survey Background

In early January 2025, Fort McMurray Public Schools conducted a Student Demographic Survey. We wanted to learn more about the diversity of the students we serve. This information will be used to inform actions that can lead to more students experiencing success. To help us learn more, we reached out to students in Grades 4-12 and invited them to share information about themselves, including their:

- Indigenous heritage
- religion or spiritual belief(s)
- racial backgroundethnicity
- gender expression
- sexual orientation (Grades 7–12 only)

At FMPSD, we recognize that creating a truly inclusive environment is essential for our staff and students'. We believe that diversity is a tremendous asset and that the range of skills, ideas, and perspectives our staff members bring to the table drives our success. FMPSD knows that building a more inclusive workplace is an ongoing process, and we recognize that this initiative represents a significant step forward in our efforts to create a genuinely welcoming and equitable environment for staff, students and stakeholders. This work has been informed by the voices of students, staff, families and members of the community and has included the following actions:

Board Chair

"As a Board, we want each and every person in FMPSD to experience a strong sense of belonging as a foundation for their personal success. The students represented by these survey answers are like individual threads, each unique one claiming their rightful place in the tapestry that is our school division. The weaving is ongoing, and we commit to using the data in this report to continue the work of building, strengthening, and fostering genuine belonging for ALL."

- Board Chair Linda Mywaart

Superintendent

"Understanding who our students are is the first step in ensuring they feel seen, valued, and supported. Our schools are places where every student should experience belonging, care, and the confidence to thrive."

- Superintendent Annalee Nutter

Student Advisory

"Knowing that schools take the time and effort to record the diverse opinions of students reminds me that I am a part of something bigger and that the perspectives of all students are taken into consideration. Every student is given the chance to give back their unique feedback which will directly improve the well-being of all students."

- Student Advisory Group

Administering the Student Demographic Survey

The survey was open for students to complete between January 8 and January 15, 2025. Participation in the survey was voluntary. Parents who did not want their child to participate were able to opt their child out. Survey questions were designed to be age-appropriate for students in Grades 4–6 and Grades 7–12.

When answering each question, students were able to choose from a list of provided options and were also given the opportunity to provide a written response. Students who participated in the survey responded only to the questions they felt comfortable answering. For each question, students had the option to choose "I prefer not to answer", "I do not understand this question", or to skip the question altogether. The "other" option was also provided to students to input responses that the survey might not have included or to expand on answers.

Student Participation Rates

In total, 3498 students participated in the survey out of a possible 5286 students. This is a 66 per cent response rate.

Moving Forward

We are proud that students across our schools come from a variety of backgrounds, cultures, communities and experiences.

The findings of the Student Demographic Survey are just the beginning. We will analyze the findings with other student information we have related to academic achievement, safety and a sense of belonging. Together, this information will help us answer questions about how students experience school and where the Division can take action to improve their experience.

As we move forward, we are committed to working with students to gain further perspectives and insights. Once the Division has a better understanding of how students experience racism and inequity at school, we can take the next steps to reduce barriers. Our goal is to improve the school experience so that all students can be proud of who they are and feel welcome at school.
